Chilwa's Managing Director, Cadell Buss, commented:

"The Company is focussed on giving back to the local communities that surround our flagship Lake Chilwa Project, with these early discussions being an initial step into providing information of the Company's plans going forward. Importantly, giving the local representatives of the surrounding communities the ability to raise any questions or concerns that they may have to improve transparency of what we are looking to achieve.

"We believe that the Lake Chilwa Project has immense economic potential for the surrounding communities and look forward to maintaining an open dialogue on the future progression of the Project."
